

Pre-show announcements:

Welcome to our show. The students have worked very hard to prepare this performance for you and are very excited for the show. You are all here to see your student present what they have worked on.

With these things in mind, please remember:

♪ Be Respectful. The students sitting here in front of me know how to be respectful as we work on being good audience members throughout the school year.

♪ Turn OFF all cell phones. If you receive an emergency call, please step out to take the call.

♪ No talking. It makes it very difficult for our children to remember not to talk if we are talking. We are all here to hear your students perform their parts and if there is talking it makes it very difficult for others to hear their child. Please be respectful of your neighbors.

♪ If you need to step out of the performance, please do so after a song, during the applause, to minimize the disruption. Return to the performance during that time as well.

Thank you all for being here this evening. You are in for a treat. Without further delay may we present to you

These exemplary character traits were evident in preparation for this music program:

creativity
leadership
musicianship
motivation
cooperation
mentorship
teamwork
responsibility

These skills are needed to succeed in today's world and cannot be measured or assessed in a conventional manner.

These exemplary character traits were evident in preparation for this music program:

creativity
leadership
musicianship
motivation
cooperation
mentorship
teamwork
responsibility

These skills are needed to succeed in today's world and cannot be measured or assessed in a conventional manner.